THE AIM OF THIS TRAINING

Solidarités Jeunesses means : popular education by everyone, for everyone. The movement's associations set up and run collective, multi-faceted reception centres where they experiment with approaches to living together. Every summer, intercultural exchanges put these values into practice with young people from different social and cultural backgrounds.

This training aims to :

improve the educational quality of youth exchanges and other intercultural initiatives share tools and encourage peer-to-peer training and the exchange of practices enable SJ members (animators, former volunteers, etc.) to acquire skills and find their place in SJ be a stepping stone in the SJ commitment process.

The aim of this training course is to co-construct the keys to making youth exchanges a constructive experiment in collective intelligence.

It will help to prepare different workshops for these intercultural projects (finalising the programme, co-preparing workshops, links with partners and speakers, etc.) within a Solidarités Jeunesses delegation.

The training will be enriched by the participants, who will share their experiences and skills.

FACILITATORS
