About IWO

Who We Are

International Workcamp Organization (IWO) is a non-profit organization dedicated to connecting global volunteers with local communities in Korea.

What We Do

We organize short-term international workcamps focused on cultural exchange, education, environmental protection, and meaningful community engagement.

Where We Work

Our programs are hosted across various regions in Korea, bringing international participants to support local development and foster intercultural understanding.

Vision

Foster global citizenship through meaningful service and cultural exchange.

Build inclusive communities through hands-on collaboration.

Mission

Design safe, well-structured workcamps with local partners.

Empower youth to learn by doing and lead with empathy.

Support community needs aligned with cultural and educational goals.

Collaborative Network

We actively collaborate with diverse NGOs, schools, and local municipalities to ensure our projects are supported by a strong, sustainable network.

Local Relevance

Every program is designed to meet specific local needs while providing a platform for meaningful intercultural exchange and global learning.

2026 Strategic Focus

This year, our efforts are concentrated on the Yeosu region, specifically revitalizing island communities like Geomundo and Geumodo.
